RECALLS DROPPED

In 2008, Danny’s Law was passed. To date, the US Consumer Product Safety Commission has, as the law requires, set strong new mandatory standards for eight types of children’s products including toys, cribs, swings and more. With increased oversight and independent testing required, recalls have dropped. This is especially true of cribs.

Through outreach and education, KID gives caregivers the tools they need to keep children safe. Our evaluations show almost all participants in the Safe from the Start workshop take steps to keep children safe from checking products and posting recalls to checking for choking hazards with KID’s handy TP tube check – if it fits inside a toilet paper tube, it is too small for children under three.

Parents know they can find useful information and answers to their safety questions from KID.

KID is a nonprofit organization dedicated to protecting children by improving children’s product safety.

KID was founded in 1998 by Linda Ginzel and Boaz Keysar, the parents of sixteen-month-old Danny Keysar who died in his Chicago childcare home when a portable crib collapsed around his neck.

KID’s mission is to PROMOTE the development of safer children’s products, ADVOCATE for children, and EDUCATE the public, especially parents and caregivers, about dangerous children’s products.
PROMOTING THE DEVELOPMENT OF SAFER CHILDREN’S PRODUCTS

In June CPSC adopted its first standard for play yards. It is now mandatory that these products be tested to avoid design flaws such as those that killed Danny Keysar and many other children. CPSC Chairman Inez Tenenbaum was joined by Linda Ginzel, Nancy Cowles, Congresswoman Jan Schakowsky and Rachel Weintraub of Consumer Federation of America in Washington, DC to mark the passage.

Students working through KID’s innovative TEST (Teach Early Safety Testing) program developed prototypes to address hazards in cribs, bassinets, infant seats and more. The program continues to bring design safety concepts to undergraduate engineering students. Ninety-four percent of participants responding to a survey said they will take away valuable product safety lessons from the experience.

EDUCATING THE PUBLIC, ESPECIALLY PARENTS & CAREGIVERS ABOUT PRODUCT SAFETY

We are a growing presence in the community; providing a unique safety message to thousands of parents and caregivers.

Our materials and trainings give parents and caregivers the tools they need to keep children safe. From pediatricians at their annual conference to expectant parents at community baby showers and early childhood educators at an information fair, KID’s safety message was heard throughout the state. We presented our Creating Safe Environments for Children workshops at Easter Seals of Metropolitan Chicago, the YWCA in Glendale Heights, and at Heartland Human Services in Effingham, Illinois to name a few.

We are focused on reaching a rapidly growing population of caregivers - grandparents. To stay connected with the expanding grandparent community and keep informed of their needs, KID has joined the Illinois Grandparents Raising Grandkids task force. The task force meets quarterly and in May 2013 KID was the featured presenter at a task force meeting in Springfield, Illinois. To stay connected with additional grandparents, KID attends community events around Chicago and exhibited at the Governor’s Conference on Aging in December 2012.

Online or in print, KID is getting our name and our message out to the public. KID has teamed up with many publications including The Bump, Chicago Parent, Expectant Mothers Guide and Kids Magazine to share information about safe sleep practices, recalls, and so much more. Online we have partnered with organizations including Neighborhood Parent Network, GRAND Magazine, and Parent Tested, Parent Approved to provide monthly blog posts on their high traffic sites.

You’ll find KID on a variety of social media platforms – check out our educational resources on Pinterest or our volunteer testimonials on YouTube. This is in addition to regular recall and product safety news postings on our blog, Facebook & Twitter. We want to be wherever parents are looking for reliable safety info. And our email newsletter now reaches almost 7,000 monthly.

ADVOCATING FOR CHILDREN KID is the voice for parents on children’s product safety. This year we testified in Maryland to support their ban on the sale of dangerous crib bumper pads, and at a CPSC hearing on priorities for the agency. KID published Safe Sleep, Safe Play: Children’s Product Recalls in 2012, examining the decrease in children’s product recalls since the passage in 2008 of “Danny’s Law” which requires strong standards and independent testing.
